HLB Announces New Alliance with Beeye for Improved Collaboration

LONDON - HLB, the global advisory and accounting network, has announced a new strategic partnership with Beeye, an AI scheduling solution that helps professional service firms improve visibility, collaboration, productivity, and profitability.

Beeye offers a suite of tools designed to facilitate better management of client tasks, schedules, teamwork, smart templates, time management, and profitability analysis. In addition to their cutting-edge technology, Beeye has been recognised for its contribution to the business and social environment, earning a Certified B Corporation status, reflecting their commitment to sustainable and responsible business practices and aligning perfectly with HLB's network ambitions.

Discussing the significance of the partnership, Adrien Sicard, CEO at Beeye, said, "Globally, the talent shortage presents significant challenges for audit, tax, and advisory firms, especially with the complexities introduced by hybrid work models. HLB and Beeye are united in their effort to support member firms with a solution that delivers a holistic view of team activities, aligns skills with tasks, and ensures client demands are met".

He added, "This collaboration empowers firms with access to AI-driven technology, enhancing team performance and fostering innovative collaboration methods both within and across firms. Beeye's dedication to sustainability, underscored by its B Corp certification, aligns with assisting members in developing ESG services further. This partnership promises substantial benefits in line with HLB's network strategy, marking a pivotal step forward."

On the exciting announcement, Amy Spillard, Head of Technology Partnerships at HLB said, "This partnership offers an innovative solution to the resourcing and scheduling challenges our firms face globally. Beeye's cutting edge technology enables HLB firms to optimise their teams and focus on delivering a superior client experience, and their commitment to innovation and sustainability align perfectly with our values. We're excited to build a long-term strategic relationship with Beeye that can contribute to achieving our technology & ESG objectives."
